

For the bachelor work, I chose the theme "Nursing case of premature newborn". The thesis is divided into theoretical and practical parts. In the beginning I focused on the selection of the topic, why I took a strong interest of the issue of premature newborns. In the clinical part, I focused on the processing of premature newborn problems from the medical and nursing perspective in general.

In nursing, I have processed diagnostic and therapeutic care, nursing history of mothers and newborns. Based on the information I have formulated nursing diagnoses, which I developed into a plan of nursing care. Part of the process in the nursing part was also education of maternal care of the premature newborn.

In conclusion of this bachelor work is given a forecast of the premature newborn.
